

THE FABULIST

All clocks will run down
Stone will form will rise will fall
Will yield to sand
Swept so far from wisdom
Will a way to find to hear to learn
To understand
In this ever instant
Future life perfect soul is in our hands

Pass it pass it pass
The history on
Share it share it share
All that makes us strong
Tell it tell it tell it
In a legend or song

Names were worn away
Time ten thousand storms
Had weathered down
Monuments had given way
Sentries form up a line of blanks
In rows around
All those unmarked graves
Cast a mystery shadow maze
Cross-hallowed ground

Pioneer time portraits
Hide the fear the love the courage
And the joy
Always here to guide us
These stories tales fables and folklore
So tell us about the seasons
Time gave you time
To live to share and now pay for

LAST CALL

One more hollow night turned day
Promise of hollow passion
Puppets in a shadow play
Posture in theatrical fashion
In a seriously lonely way
You're turned away while she's laughing

Pressed into reflection
Animation at your back
Endless introspection
About the essence that you lack

When the temptation subsides
It's cold in the afterglow
Some lucky no one has died
But there's death that don't show
The smiles get thin when they're tired
And so random you know

When last call calls us last
Silhouettes disappear
Puppets leave the stage in mass
With the puppeteer
With all the souls we've saved
Can't find one round here
